VOICES WAR

COMMEMORATING WWI (1914-1918)

It was the war to end all wars, the Great War, the first global war.

A war of futility that saw Australia come of age on the world stage. It recognised the transformation from a convict settlement to a race of people that could hold their heads up with national pride.

This war touched so many people, soldiers, nurses, families, relations and friends. Thousands of loved ones separated by distance and a cruel war, which, in a perverse way, linked thousands of Australians through a common bond of struggle.

These people all had voices and in Voices of War we hear the voice of Darcy the soldier, his sister the nurse, his mother, his brother fighting in France and his mates. This national war became a very personal war.

“Feel the excitement of the battle call, the hardship & suffering of men at the front, the emotion of the conscription debate, the compassion of nurses, and the pain of those waiting at home”

Geoffrey weaves stories, verse and songs engaging audiences in a riveting performance. It's all there: mateship, valour, suffering, sacrifice, bravery and humour.

Ironically, Geoffrey acted in 2 movies, both Anzacs and the more recent Gallipoli –giving him a small insight into the life of a soldier. (He died 3 times)
